The COVID-19 outbreak has caused an extreme amount of anxiety around the world, with people wanting to stockpile food and masks. Governments claim that this behavior is not necessary, while ordinary people say this is necessary. Many people are also worried about travelers coming back from abroad and bringing the virus with them, while some governments have allowed them to enter. What are the motivating concerns behind the opinions of the different groups? Are there truths and valid concerns on both sides? What seems to be the best course of action given the complexity of matters?
